CITY MATTERS.

Mr. Dan Dreifus, of Cincinnati, is at the Arcade.

Mr. M. L. Hall, of Louisville, Ky., is stopping at the Lagoda House.

Mr. N. S. Crawford, of the Beckel House, Dayton, is registered at the Arcade.

Dr. Windhurst, of North Plum street, is quite weak from a protracted illness.

Mrs. T. W. Steen, of North Plum street, is quite ill, apparently at the point of death.

Mrs. J. C. Lyon and son, Harvey, left for New Orleans to-day to attend the exposition.

Springfield is likely to come in for the usual amount of special legislation at Columbus this winter. The City Council has started the ball rolling.

There was a large lobby attendance at the meeting of Council last night, in expectation that the Mayor's street-cleaning matter would come up. But it didn't.

The Second Annual Convention of the Ohio National Guards Association will be held at Armory Hall, Columbus, O., on the 15th and 16th of January.

An experienced miller says that wheat has not been harmed yet and that an open winter, such as we are likely to have, is quite often more favorable to the crop than such a one as we had last year.

An attempt was made to-day, in last night's paper, that 246 shares were voted at the Building Association election, but it went into print that that number of members voted. Three lines below it stated the number of members to be 87, which was a confusion of ideas.

A testator who was stopped ten minutes at Center street crossing by the banging of the electric gong, no train was coming near, is more than ever of the opinion there is such a thing as proving too much. The apparatus ought to be broken of its bad tricks.

In Common Pleas court this morning bonds were forfeited in the following criminal cases: Daniel Vanny, shooting to kill, $300; skipped. Forfeiture made absolute. Michael Moran, (ex-policeman) assault and battery, $200. J. F. Flowers, (ex-chain-gang boss) assault and battery, $200; skipped.

Officer Hughes jailed Ed. White and John Phillips, youngsters, for stealing a big brass kettle and mashing it into marketable shape as old junk. A colored boy named Ferguson was taken in for stealing a Chinese washbasin, washbasin's cash box, but when confronted with the Chinaman was not identified, and so was released.

The following are the newly-elected officers of the Second English Lutheran Sabbath school: Superintendent, P. A. Schindler; Assistant Superintendent, Chas. Wachter; Secretary, Geo. Lupper; Assistant Secretary, B. Sturman; Treasurer, Chas. Bach; Historian, Wm. Lupper, Jr. There were 217 present at the school last Sunday.

The city has been billed extensively, offering a reward of $1,000 for the capture of Bill Forrest, a famous desperado, escaped convict from Sing-Sing prison, New York. At the top of the poster is a spread-eagle and the motto: "E Pluribus Unum." This is not so inappropriate as might seem at first glance, considering William's numerous aliases, a list of which is given.

There has been some complaint by property owners in the West End on the score of descriptions of poles erected for electric light wires, which are about twenty feet above ground. A proposition was made in Council last night to give the company until May 1 to substitute poles of equal length—45 feet, but it failed to pass. It was claimed for the company that proper poles could not be procured in time.

Officers of the Ohio National Guard have been notified of the annual convention of the O. N. G. Association, to be held at Columbus, January 15 and 16. Members attending appear in full uniform. Adjutant-General E. B. Finley is President of the association. Local military organizations will be represented by Col. W. J. White, Major Henry Harper, Capt. Mark A. Smith, Capt. George Smith, and perhaps one or two others.

The fair at the North street A. M. E. Church, which has been in progress several weeks, closed last night, and was a success in every way. All the colored organizations in the city were present, prizes having been offered to the one turning out the largest number of men. The first prize was a bible, which was won by Solomon Temple I. O. O. F. The second prize, a handsome silver water service, was won by the Household of Ruth. The presentation speeches were made by Judge John C. Miller and Walter C. Weaver, Esq., and were responded to by Mr. C. H. Butler and Mr. C. H. Cissel.

The Urbana. Circuit publishes a list taken from the assignee's report of names of creditors of the Mechanic's Machine Company whose claims reach $1,000 or upward, there being, in addition, many whose claims vary in amount from $10 to $500. In the published list are John C. Baker, $4,475; Farmers' Bank, $5,000; Mad River National Bank, $9,000; and J. D. Hedger, $1,245. The total amount of liabilities is given at $158,894.05, and assets at $144,506.04. The notes and claims held by the company were cut down to the lowest figures, so that the nominal assets reported will probably be good, and the creditors will not come out with very much loss.

The bill was referred back to the committee.

On motion of Mr. Prince, the resolution in reference to the market-house was taken from the table, but, by desire of the Committee on Public Buildings, who were not ready to act, the resolution went over for another week.

RESOLUTIONS.

By Mr. Driscoll—Requiring the Electric Light Company to take down twenty-five feet poles on or before May 1, 1885, and replace the same with forty-five feet poles, on Columbus and North streets. Lost.

By Mr. Kershner—That a catch basin be put in at the southeast corner of Limestone and Mulberry streets, connecting with Limestone street sewer, and that $85 be allowed for the same, amount of Minahan's bill, and $7 for crossing, making $92. Adopted.

By Mr. Lesser: Resolved—That the Hon. John H. Little be and is hereby requested to secure from the Legislature at Columbus, O., authority for the city to issue bonds to the amount of one hundred thousand dollars, for the purpose of constructing sewers.

Mr. Prince moved to amend by making the amount readily applicable to building of the main sewer, saying that the sewers so far constructed empty into Buck creek to the great annoyance and damage of residents of the North Side. He said that these sewers, notwithstanding provisions of Council to prevent them from emptying into house sewage, he should object to the expenditure of any funds for construction of other than the main sewer.

Mr. Pettigrew denied the branch sewers were tapped for house connections.

The resolution was adopted. Yeas 12, nays 3.

By Mr. Hannell—That modern crossings be constructed on alleys between Limestone street and Clinton avenue on Liberty street. Referred to Improvement Committee.

Council adjourned.

THE MAXWELL POST MORTEM.

The Suicide's Brain Found Diseased—Statement by Dr. Reynolds to Coroner Coleman of the Post Mortem.

Physician J. H. Reynolds, M. D., has just placed in Coroner Coleman's hands his written statement of result of the post mortem examination of the brain of Dr. John F. Maxwell, the child-murderer and suicide. It does not affect the verdict in the coroner's inquest, which is simply death from hanging, and that the same was suicidal, not making any expression as to the question of sanity or insanity, over which the doctors and public are at liberty to disagree to their full and entire satisfaction. The statement by Dr. Reynolds is as follows:

SPRINGFIELD, O., Jan. 6, 1885.

To J. L. Coleman, Coroner of Clark Co., Ohio:

In the case of Dr. John F. Maxwell (deceased) I would make to you a detailed statement as follows: I was called to the county jail on the night of Nov. 26, 1884, at about 7 o'clock. I found Maxwell in a semi-conscious state from the effect of some drug. He was a man of about 35 years of age, of medium height and build, and was under the influence of morphia and chloroform; and from what I afterward learned, I am positive that he had taken some drug. I examined carefully the said Maxwell and saw clearly of the opinion that he was under the influence of morphia and chloroform; and from what I afterward learned, I am positive that he had taken some drug. I examined carefully the said Maxwell and saw clearly of the opinion that he was under the influence of morphia and chloroform; and from what I afterward learned, I am positive that he had taken some drug.

that said death was self-inflicted while under mental aberrations. Yesterday, January 5, 1885, at about 4 o'clock p. m., with the free permission of Mr. Sweeney, the father-in-law of the said John F. Maxwell, and with the assistance of Dr. J. W. Barry, I removed the brain of the said Maxwell. I found good and sufficient cause for the morbid manifestations of the said Maxwell. The post-mortem examination of the brain revealed unmistakable evidences of sufficient brain lesion to determine beyond a doubt the insanity of the said John F. Maxwell.

Yours respectfully,
J. H. REYNOLDS, M. D.

The Columbus Capital, of January 4th, contains the 22d Annual report of the Hannan Neil Mission and the Home of the Friendless. Mrs. R. D. Harrison was elected President of the organization maintaining the mission. Of this excellent lady it is only necessary to say that she is as active in every good work in Columbus, as she was while residing in this city, where she was born and lived for many years. The Capital contains also the report of the retiring Secretary, Miss Flora A. Harrison.

At a meeting last evening of the trustees of the Springfield Republican Club, the committee appointed to draw up a constitution for the club reported and the trustees discussed the instrument until midnight, making some changes in the document as presented. They adjourned until Wednesday night of next week, by which time it is expected additional information desired will have been received and this matter disposed of. A meeting of the club will then be held. It has been thought best to move on the slow and sure plan, but the members of the club may rest assured the business is not being neglected.

Gold Excitement in Georgia.

The revival of the Georgia gold interest is attracting many practical miners from the west and southwest, where the fever has somewhat subsided, and the marvelous stories are being told of the richness of the ores found in many localities in the northern part of the state. Dahlonega has long been famous for its mines. The state agricultural school is situated there and after a hard rain the boys flock into the streets to pick up nuggets that have been washed out of the sand. Mines are being discovered everywhere, and old traditions are revived by white-haired settlers which incite men, young and old, to join in the hunt for the veins they tell of.

Near Cartersville an aged farmer tells the story of an Indian chief which has aroused the interest of the neighborhood to fever heat. When Gov. Tappan drove out the Cherokee tribe and settled in the west, this chief returned to old haunts in Bartow county, and gathering all his white friends around him, ascended a little mound surrounded by an amphitheater of hills. He turned himself slowly round three times, saying in his native tongue: "From where I stand I see a mine that would buy the richest kingdom in the world." He disappeared suddenly, and was never seen again. Some say he spoke of a silver mine, others believe he meant a gold one. What, whatever it was, diligent search has been made throughout the neighborhood. Rich mines of manganese and gray iron ore have been found by those in search of the gold and silver; copper has been discovered in large quantities, plumbago and mica and yellow ochre unearthed, as it were, by accident—all showing the marvelous mineral wealth of this section. Numerous old shafts have been found, shafts which must have been worked from a half to three-quarters of a century ago. In excavating an eighty-foot cut on the Cincinnati and Georgia railroad square heavy timbers in an excellent state of preservation were removed from the roadbed. No outlet to the shaft through which they must have been lowered there was ever discovered.

A murder or accident of forty years back was unearthed a short time ago by the discovery of an old shaft. At bottom of which the skeleton of the victim was found.

Fort Mountain, in Murray county, is celebrated for a wonderful spring which boils up from its very top. Near the spring are the remains of a fort, from which the mountain takes its name. Built, it is said, by De Soto to guard against the attacks of the Indians while his men worked the rich gold mines of the range of which this mountain is a spur.

Miners are prospecting in the neighborhood with great diligence, and as much excitement prevails there as characterized the recent strike in the Coahuila mountains, of which the Tribune spoke the other day.—New York Tribune.

Thought Himself a Devil.

There has just died in the city, writes a New York correspondent of the Albany Journal, a man who fixedly believed that he was the devil. His name was Goldberg, and he was a performer of sleights. He was a magician, according to both the show-bills and his own conceit. He had a marvelous dexterity in the deceptive handling of cards, and his tricks with them were far better than those of any of the more celebrated showmen whom I have ever seen; but his peculiar account for his powers was that he was a magician, and that he was under the influence of morphia and chloroform; and from what I afterward learned, I am positive that he had taken some drug. I examined carefully the said Maxwell and saw clearly of the opinion that he was under the influence of morphia and chloroform; and from what I afterward learned, I am positive that he had taken some drug.

I remember that during the last summer in which he was sufficiently sane to be left at large he gave exhibitions in the hotel parlors of country resorts, and was a great success. The gamblers who run the great halls there became acquainted with his sleight-of-hand abilities. None of them, however, though they were in the dishonest manipulation of cards, could either imitate or understand the tricks which he showed them. Charles Reed, manager of one of the club-houses, took him aside and said to him: "Goldberg, how much did you make out of the show you gave in the Ocean house parlor to-day?" "About $16," said the collection was made, "and $16, and $16, and $16." "You ought to be ashamed of it," the gambler retorted. "What's the use of running yourself as a sort of pass-the-hot-show when you could turn your talent to more profitable account? Now, I'll give you $200 cash down if

Corrected.

Miss Anna Johnson, of 24 Front street, Columbus, Ohio, says: "I suffered from an aggravated form of constipation and indigestion for several months. My family physician prescribed all kinds of medicines and pills, but to no effect. I began to think my case was a hopeless one. A friend of mine (Mrs. Elvira Redmond, of East Long street, this city), called, and seeing the constipation, recommended me to try my MAXLIN. I immediately had it, and found it in the medicine, but after I had taken a few doses I was convinced that MAXLIN was the medicine for me. After I had taken one bottle I was entirely well. I have several friends who are using it. They think it an excellent remedy, and recommend it to all who are afflicted with constipation or indigestion. Any one doubting this statement is invited to call on me at 24 Front street."

Mr. Milton Knotts, Urbana, O., writes: "Last year, after a year's suffering from constipation, and called in our family physician. He examined me and said I had symptoms of typhoid fever. He gave me medicine for two weeks or more without any relief. I began to drive my nails on earth were fast closing in. I saw at once that his medicine would not reach my disease. Just as I was about to conclude that I would have to die, my daughter brought me one of your pamphlets. I noticed a case whose symptoms were like mine, and PERUNA and MAXLIN had cured him. I concluded at once to try it. I procured one bottle of PERUNA and one of MAXLIN, and took them as directed, and before I had used the two bottles I began to receive strength and gain in flesh. I finished the rest of the two bottles and continued its use until the third bottle was used. When they were used I could eat anything I wanted to and to go about my work. I consider that if it hadn't been for your PERUNA I would have been in my grave. Parties wishing information can write me at the above place. I recommend your medicine wherever I go."

Mr. John R. Davis, Moundville, W. Va., writes: "I have been handling your PERUNA ever since its introduction. All who have used it have been convinced of its curative properties. I consider it a reliable remedy."

Mr. George Fisher, Portsmouth, O., writes: "I am sending your PERUNA, and having a good trade on it. It gives splendid satisfaction."

you tell me to no that trick with the four aces." "I couldn't," was the reply. "If you paid two millions. I don't know how I do it."

The truth was that the trick, which consisted in dealing four aces at will from an apparently well-shuffled pack, depended chiefly on that dextrous handling of the cards called palming, but the devoted Goldberg was convinced that, being himself the personal devil, it was purely supernatural. All the while that he was practicing the most delicate and most deceptive manipulation, he was unaware that the results were obtained by trickery and skill.

A STRANGE PHENOMENA.

What an Eye-Witness Has to Say About the Underground Fire Now Raging in Virginia.

Among the recent arrivals in the city, says the Louisville Courier-Journal, was Mr. Edward B. Elder, of Highland county, Virginia. Of late there have been reports from that section of the country of a strange phenomenon which was said to have been witnessed in the mountains a few miles from Monterey Court-house, Highland county, where the earth was said to be on fire. The fact that Mr. Elder had been known to be in another quarter of the globe gave the story some credence, and more especially so as it was vouched for by responsible men. A reporter learning of Mr. Elder's arrival went in search of him last night to see if he knew anything concerning the matter. He was found comfortably ensconced in a cushioned chair at the Galt house, talking to some friends. When asked if he had heard of the strange performance nature was said to be guilty of, he replied:

"It is the most remarkable thing I ever heard of. From present indications I should say that we are very likely to have another edition of Mount Vesuvius produced in the mountains of Virginia. The phenomena consists of fires which seem to be burning under the earth, on the top of the peaks of Highland county, and the ground for a considerable distance seems to be a smoldering mass. The first heard of it was a report brought by a boy who claimed to have walked over the place where the fire was, and the country around it is almost inaccessible, and it is very seldom that anyone ventures so far up on the mountains, therefore it was only by accident that the discovery was made. A few days ago the boy, who was in search of some distance from the foot of the mountain, while he got several miles from home. All at once he felt the air around him grow warmer, and experienced a strange sensation, as if some burning substance was beneath him. He was on an elevated plateau, probably a quarter of a mile square, at the top of one of the small mountains. At first he was greatly alarmed, and started to run away. His curiosity overcame his fear, however, and he stopped to see if he could find the cause of the unusual warmth. He stooped and placed his hand on the ground, and was startled to find that it was so hot as to almost blister his flesh. He did not pursue his researches any further, but proceeded at once to his home, where he told of the strange occurrence. No faith was put in the narrative, and it was thought by the neighbors that the boy was going crazy."

The news finally reached the town of Monterey, and some scientifically-inclined persons determined to investigate. Procuring the boy for a guide, they went to the place and found that what he had stated was true. When they returned they told a more wonderful story than that told by the boy. This produced a great sensation throughout the immediate country, and a great many persons were nearly frightened out of their wits by the story. The story was of the belief that the day of judgment was close at hand and began to make preparations to respond to the call of the trumpet, which they momentarily expected to wake the silence of the mountains. I lived some distance from the place, but when the news reached me I determined to satisfy myself. After nearly a day's travel over the rough mountain road, which wound around cliffs at the foot of overhanging rocks, I arrived within a short distance of the region. I here left my horse, and together with a couple of friends, who had accompanied me, proceeded as best I could to the place indicated. I had heard exaggerated stories, and was almost prepared for anything, but I must confess that I was greatly startled. The earth for yards around seemed to be a smoldering heap, and was as hot as an oven. In places a hard crust had formed over the clay, and large fissures were by the heat. The air seemed very dense and foggy, and in many places a bluish smoke spread through holes in the earth and spread over the surface of the ground. The depth of probably three feet and came to a yellowish sort of clay which was almost as soft as putty. When a shovelful was thrown out on the ground it smoldered like a heap of ashes, and a quantity of smoke seemed to rise from it. A smoldering heap, and was with a strange brilliancy, which lasted for hours. We tried the experiment of digging down in a number of places, and always with the same results. The deeper we went the more pronounced was the phenomena, and we found it difficult to stand over the opening. How long this has been in progress no one knows, and the most learned are baffled for a reason. It looks as if a volcano were about to break out, and at the moment to break out, an opening through the earth and throw out its volume of smoke and fire. Hundreds of people have visited the place, and all have come away more mystified than ever."

The New York Journal is responsible for the following tales of two young ladies of two cities: A Boston maiden has fitted a pair of spectacles on her pet pug. She says he looks just too interesting for anything. A Brooklyn girl has acquired the art of whistling. With one shrill toot from her tiny lips she can make the most rambling cab horse stop as if it were stopped.

"Is that brake hard to handle?" asked a young man on the front platform of a Broadway car, of the driver. "No," responded that person. "Is that whistle hard to blow?" again interrogated the youth. "No," gruffly responded the driver. "What is the hardest thing to do on a street car?" "Answering fool questions!" replied the driver.—Drake's Travelers' Magazine.

John Conner writes from Rome, Mo., August 16, 1884: "I must say a word or two in regard to your great medicine. About four years ago I was taken down with a burning in my stomach, a rheumatism. I began growing weak and could not eat anything. I tried everything I could but could not get any relief.
